6. A permanent record of each employee's sick leave will be kept by the bookkeeper.

XV. PERSONAL BUSINESS LEAVE

1. Regular full-time (30 hours) employees will be allowed leave of four (4) days per calendar year, with pay, for personal business for the purpose of conducting business, which cannot be conducted at any time other than during the working day. The time will not be charged against sick leave.
2. Regular part-time employees working at least 20 hours per week are eligible for two (2) personal business days per calendar year, with pay, for personal business. Those working 15-19 hours per week will be eligible for one (1) personal business day per calendar year. This time will not be charged against sick leave and must be taken only when business cannot be conducted at any time other than during the working day.
3. Regular part-time employees with less than 15 hours per week, and/or temporary employees, are not eligible for personal business leave.
4. Prior arrangements for such leave must be made with the bookkeeper or Director.
5. No payment to a regular full-time, regular part-time or temporary employee is made at termination or layoff of unused personal business leave.
6. These personal business days cannot be carried over into the next year.
7. Salaried employees will be allowed six (6) personal business days per calendar year, with pay, unless otherwise negotiated by a contract. The time will not be charged against sick leave and cannot be carried to the next calendar year.
 - The Director will be allowed (8) personal business days per calendar year, with pay.

XVI. BEREAVEMENT LEAVE

1. All employees shall be allowed five working days, with pay, per calendar year for absence upon death of immediate family.
2. Employees may be allowed two paid bereavement days per calendar year upon death of other relatives upon approval of the Director.
3. Upon request, additional unpaid days may be granted by the Director to accommodate unusual situations in connection with the above bereavement.
4. Employees may make up time missed in lieu of requesting additional unpaid leave, upon the approval of the Director.

Immediate Family is defined as consisting of domestic partner, parents, children, siblings, sons-in-law, daughters-in-law, grandparents, grandchildren, domestic partners' comparable relatives, or other relatives living in the household.

XVII. DONATED LEAVE

Employees have the opportunity to assist another employee who is facing a serious personal illness or injury or caring for an immediate family member who has a serious illness or injury. This policy allows multiple employees to donate a combined maximum of 26 weeks of accrued sick, vacation and personal leave to an employee when the receiving employee needs time off that is not otherwise covered by any existing time off benefits. Persons wishing to donate time to another employee should contact the Library Director for guidelines and form.

XVIII. JURY DUTY/CIVIL APPEARANCE

All employees will be given time off with pay if called for jury duty or when serving as a non-party witness under subpoena.

XIX. LEAVES OF ABSENCE

1. Leaves Under the Family and Medical Leave Act

A. Eligibility

The Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 (FMLA) took effect on August 5, 1993. Under the Act and this policy, employees are eligible for family and medical leave if:

- Employee works for a covered employer;
- Has worked for the employer for at least 12 months;
- Has at least 1,250 hours of service for the employer during the 12-month period immediately preceding the leave
- Works at a location where the employer has at least 50 employees within 75 miles.

B. Reasons for Leave

Subject to the specific provisions of the Family and Medical Leave Act, and related regulations, eligible employees may take a total of 12 work weeks of family and medical leave during any 12-month period for the following purposes.

- The birth of the employee's child, and the care for the newborn child
- The placement of a child with the employee for adoption or foster care

- To care for the spouse, or a child or parent, of the employee, if the spouse, child or parent has a serious health condition
- A serious health condition that makes the employee unable to perform the functions of his/her job
- An employee's entitlement to leave for the birth of a child or the placement of a child for adoption or foster care will expire at the end of the 12-month period, beginning on the date of such birth or placement.
- For purposes of leave eligibility, a "serious health condition" is defined as an illness, injury, impairment or physical or medical condition that involves inpatient-care in a hospital, hospice or residential medical care facility; or requires continuing treatment by a health care provider.

C. Determination of 12-month period

- The 12-month period for taking a family and medical leave will be a rolling 12-month period measured backward from the date leave is used.

D. Notice of Leave

- An employee must notify the Director at least 30 days before the leave is to begin, when the need for family and medical leave is foreseeable, as for the birth or placement of a child, or for planned medical treatment. If leave is to begin within 30 days, the employee must give notice as soon as the need for the leave arises. When the leave is not foreseeable, the employee must provide such notice as soon as possible.

E. Medical Certification Requirements

- When family and medical leave is needed, based upon the serious health condition of an employee or the employee's spouse, child, or parent, a timely medical certification must be provided by the health care provider of the employee or family member, which includes the following information:
 - Date the serious health condition began
 - Probable duration
 - Appropriate medical facts regarding the condition
 - If applicable, a statement that the employee needs to care for the family member, and an estimate of the time needed for such care
 - Certification must be provided within 15 calendar days unless that is not practical under the circumstances

- In the event of the employee's own illness, the certification must state that the employee is unable to perform the functions of his/her position. In cases of certification for intermittent or reduced leave, the certification must include the following information:
 - Dates on which treatment is expected to be given
 - The duration of such treatment
 - A statement of medical necessity
- In any case in which the library has reason to doubt the validity of the certification, the library (at its expense) may require the employee to obtain the opinion of a second health care provider and, in the event of a conflict, the opinion of a third health care provider whose decision is final and binding.
- The library may also require the employee to obtain subsequent re-certifications on a reasonable basis.

F. Intermittent Leave or Leave on a Reduced Leave Schedule

- In certain situations, family and medical leave may be taken intermittently or on a reduced leave schedule basis. For the birth or placement of a child, intermittent or reduced schedule leave may only be taken with the library's approval. Intermittent or reduced schedule leave to care for a seriously ill spouse, child, or parent, or because of an employee's own serious health condition may be taken when medically necessary.
- If the need for intermittent or reduced schedule leave is foreseeable, based on planned medical treatment, including recovery from a serious health condition, the employee must attempt to schedule the leave so as not to unduly disrupt the library's operations. The library may also require the employee to temporarily transfer to an available alternative position with equivalent pay and benefits that better accommodate recurring periods of leave.

G. Pay and Benefit Coverage During Leave

- Unless an employee uses paid time off (sick leave or vacation, or both) for all or part of the leave, all family and medical leaves will be unpaid, unless otherwise negotiated with the Board of Trustees.

- If the employee fails to return to work after expiration of the leave, he/she will be required to reimburse the library for any premiums paid to maintain coverage under the library's group health plan during the leave, unless the reason the employee fails to return to work is the continuation, recurrence or onset of a serious health condition that would entitle the employee to family and medical leave, or other circumstances beyond the employee's control.

H. Restoration of Employment

- At the end of any family and medical leave the employee will be restored to the position held when the leave commenced, or to an equivalent position with equivalent pay and benefits.
- The taking of family and medical leave will not result in the loss of any employment benefits accrued prior to the date on which the leave commenced. However, no benefits will accrue during any period of unpaid family and medical leave.

I. Return From Leave

- The library may require periodic reports from an employee on family and medical leave regarding the employee's status and intent to return to work. If the employee gives unequivocal notice of intent not to return to work, the library's obligations to provide benefits, under its group health plan (except under COBRA), and to restore the employee to the same or an equivalent position.
- In accordance with the established policy, if an employee takes a family and medical leave due to his/her own serious health condition, the employee must provide medical certification that he/she is able to resume duty before returning to work.
- The failure of an employee to return to work upon the expiration of a family and medical leave will subject the employee to immediate termination unless an extension is granted or unless the employee has other available leave time. In addition, when an employee exhausts his/her FMLA leave and entitlement, all the library's obligations under this policy end.

J. Relationships with Other Laws, Policies and Agreements

- The policy set forth above is intended to provide an overview of the general rights, obligations, and conditions applicable to family and medical leaves under the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993. This policy does not in any way alter or modify any of the library's rights and obligations under practices that are not governed by FMLA. In addition, this policy does not alter or modify any of the library's rights or obligations under any other state or federal laws, or any of the library's rights or obligations under any contracts or agreements to which it is a party.

- The library reserves the right to modify or amend this policy and the procedures stated herein, as well as any other policies or practices which could affect the rights and obligations of the library and employees under FMLA, at any time.

2. Other Leaves

- A. Special leaves of absence not covered by the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 must be requested in writing and approved by the Board of Trustees. The request must state the reasons for and duration of the leave.
- B. While the taking of leave shall not result in the loss of any employment benefits accrued before the date on which the leave commenced, the restored employee is not entitled to the accrual of benefits during any period of leave.
- C. Military leave will be given in accordance with the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA). A fact sheet, which points out the highlights of this law, is included at the end of the Leave of Absence section of the Personnel Policy. Further information can be found at the web site listed on the fact sheet.
- D. When a leave ends, the employee will be returned to the same position if the position has not been filled or eliminated. If the employee is not returned to the same position, the employee may be placed in another position with equal pay and benefits at the employer's discretion.

XX. MEDICAL INSURANCE

The Presque Isle District Library does not maintain medical insurance.

XXI. STAFF DEVELOPMENT

1. The Board of Trustees encourages the staff to become involved in professional activities. The staff's professional growth will be reflected in added contributions to the library.

2. Staff members are encouraged to become members of community, educational and professional organizations to add to their personal growth and to promote the benefits of the library.
3. As determined by the Director, staff growth and development shall be promoted through in-service training, availability and use of professional materials, and other recognized methods for aiding the growth of staff members in their professional abilities and their use of these to benefit the library.
4. The library pays for institutional membership in the Michigan Library Association.
5. The library pays for the Library Director's expenses and registration at the American Library Association and the Michigan Library Association annual conferences, upon prior approval by the Board of Trustees.
6. Professional leave for attendance at workshops and conferences for staff may be granted by the Director if request for such is made in advance.
 - a. Attendance, fees and expenses may be paid considering budget limitations, relationship of subject to job responsibilities, membership in the organization sponsoring the event, and work schedules.
 - b. Employees attending approved workshops and conferences will be paid at their regular rate for hours normally scheduled that day. Thus, a person normally working 5 hours per day would receive 5 hours pay per day while attending workshops or conferences. Compensation time may be given at the Director's discretion but must be discussed and agreed upon prior to the employee attending the workshop or conference. A travel expense voucher, complete with receipts must be filed with the bookkeeper to get reimbursed for mileage and meals, if such expenses were incurred.

XII. EMERGENCY CLOSING

Tornados

Notice of tornado watches or warnings are received over local radio and television stations. In the case of tornado watches, business will proceed as usual. If a tornado warning is issued, the library will be closed until the danger has passed. Library patrons in the building will be allowed to remain in the library's front unisex bathroom, or if necessary and inside room and/or the back office until notification is received that the danger has passed. Adults will be allowed to leave if they so desire but must follow instructions of the person in charge if they choose to remain. Unattended minors will be asked to stay in the building until a guardian picks them up or notification is received that the danger has passed.

Adverse Weather/Equipment Failure

A library is a public service institution, and every effort is made to maintain regular hours for the public. The library will be closed only when weather conditions deteriorate to the point where emergency situations prevail, when vital equipment in the building fails (e.g. furnace malfunction, no water in the building, no electricity, etc.) or when there is a general emergency within the city. The decision to close any branch of the library will be based upon:

- General conditions of roads in Presque Isle County or Forest and Waverly Townships of Cheboygan County
- Condition of the library's parking lot and walkways
- Availability of staff to open and operate the library. The library can operate with a reduced staff when the number of patrons is expected to be abnormally low
- Condition of the building's equipment
- Requests for closure by local, county or state law enforcement agencies

The library will not automatically close, or delay opening based on any other institution's actions alone. The decision to close will be made by the library Director or in the absence of the Director, the person next in charge. Because of the distances between the libraries and the probability that the weather conditions may vary drastically even within Presque Isle County, the decision to close will be made on the conditions at each individual building. Given the variations in the weather, it will be the responsibility of branch personnel to notify the library Director of any concern regarding severe weather conditions in their area.

If the library Director is unavailable, the Head Clerk or person put in charge by the Director in their absence will make the decision after conferring with one or more board members if time allows. Once the decision to close or to open late is made, the Director, or person in charge, will immediately notify those scheduled to work that day. They will also immediately notify the local radio stations as to which building(s) will be closed and as to the duration of the closure.

National and State Emergencies

If there is a National or State Emergency (which includes pandemic or other disaster), the Library will follow first the State of Michigan and then the National guidelines/procedures for limited openings and/or closures for all the library branches and the theater. Staff and Board will be notified of such closures and a notice will be posted on the front doors of each location informing the public of the emergency closure.

Compensation

If the library is closed due to emergency conditions, or inclement weather, employees regularly scheduled to work will be paid for their scheduled hours up to six days annually. After six days, employees may use one of the following options:

1. Use vacation time
2. Make up the time with the approval of the Director, or
3. Take time without pay
4. Work regardless of closing, if employee is able to do so without putting themselves or other employees in danger.

Employees who are absent due to scheduled annual leave, illness, or other leave will not be charged for the time the library is closed.

Employees at the library when it is closed will be paid for the remainder of their scheduled workday.

If the library is closed for two or more days due to fire, tornado, or other unplanned lengthy closings, employees regularly scheduled to work will continue to receive pay for three weeks and/or up to the discretion of the Director. An improvised interim work schedule may be developed to handle existent work needs. Job descriptions or duties may be temporarily altered or reassigned, based upon unusual needs created by the situation. The Director will make a reasonable effort to maintain a useful work schedule and provide continuous employment opportunities.

XXIII. SERIOUS DISEASES

1. It is the library's policy that employees with infectious, long-term, life threatening, or other serious diseases may work as long as they can physically and mentally perform the essential function of their job, with or without reasonable accommodation, without undue risk to their own health or that of other employees or customers.
2. Serious diseases for the purposes of this policy include, but are not limited to, cancer, heart disease, multiple sclerosis, hepatitis, tuberculosis, human immunodeficiency virus (HIV), and acquired immune deficiency syndrome (AIDS).
3. Employees afflicted with serious diseases are to be treated no differently than any other employee. If, however, the serious disease affects their ability to perform assigned duties, such employees are to be treated like other employees who have disabilities that limit their job performance. Every effort will be made to accommodate such employees as long as is feasibly possible to do so.

4. Employees who are diagnosed as having a serious disease and who want an accommodation should inform the library Director of their condition as soon as possible.
5. Said employees should also provide the library Director with any pertinent medical records needed to make decisions regarding job assignments, ability to continue working, or ability to return to work. The library also may require a doctor's certification of an employee's ability or inability to perform job duties safely. Additionally, the library may request that an employee submit to a medical examination, at the library's expense, if it is believed the employee is a health or safety threat to himself/herself or others.
6. The library will maintain the confidentiality of the diagnosis and medical records of employees with serious diseases, unless otherwise required by law. Information relating to an employee's serious disease will not be disclosed to other employees unless the information is, in the opinion of the library Director, necessary to protect the health or safety of the employee, co-workers, or others. Every attempt will be made to maintain the employees' anonymity.
7. Employees concerned about being infected with a serious disease by a co-worker, customer, or other person should convey this concern to the library Director. Employees who refuse to work with or perform services for a person known or suspected of having a serious disease, without first discussing their concern with the Director, will be subject to discipline, up to and including termination. In addition, there is little or no evidence of the risk of infection to the concerned employee that employee may be assigned to work in another position within the library system at the discretion of the library Director.

XXIV. EMPLOYEE COMPUTER USAGE

- The Library expects all staff to use electronic communications in a responsible manner. This includes computers not assigned to an individual but to a work or public area.
- The Library reserves the right to view any files stored on its network, server, floppy disks, CD's, or the hard drives of its individual computers.
- Personal use of computers is permitted during breaks and mealtimes only, as long as it does not interfere with Library business.
- Playing games on computers is only allowed during breaks and mealtimes and not on computers within public view.

- The use of another staff member's computer must be approved by that staff member or the Director.
- Library computers may not be used for any unlawful or criminal activity, including, but not limited to:
 - Harassment
 - Libel
 - Copyright infringement
 - Discrimination on the basis of age, race, creed, color, gender, religion, disability, or other reasons
 - Sending, receiving, displaying, or printing any material in violation of federal or state regulation or material which is threatening, or which may reasonably be construed as obscene
 - Unauthorized access or invasion of privacy
- Library computers also may not be used for:
 - Staff involvement in personal financial transactions for patrons or for private financial gain, or commercial, advertising, or solicitation purposes.
 - Non-library fundraising, unless it is related to a community service organization (On other-than-library time and at a non-public desk)
 - Political activity
 - Display of sexually explicit graphics or any use involving material that are obscene, pornographic, profane, fraudulent, defamatory or otherwise unlawful
 - Opening or forwarding executable files from unknown sources or that may contain viruses
 - Sending mass e-mails or spam without permission from proper authorities (Director, etc. as previously mentioned)
 - Any activity which violates license agreements or copyright
 - Activity which compromises the confidentiality of personal and library logins or passwords
- Misuse of Library computers, equipment, networks, or the Internet will result in disciplinary action, which may result in dismissal. Illegal acts involving Library computers may also be subject to prosecution by local, state, or federal law enforcement authorities.
- Staff may not install, run, or download software applications that have not been installed by the Director, or a designated authority without prior permission from the Director.
- Passwords may be used but must be disclosed to Technology Services personnel as well as the Director.

- The rights and work obligations of coworkers must not be infringed upon during personal use of computers.
- Any employee using library computers for personal use shall be responsible for any losses, costs or damages incurred by the Library as a result of their use of computers for this purpose.
- The Library assumes no responsibility for any unauthorized or unlawful use of its computers by staff members.
- Finally, when you use a library computer for personal reasons such as email, etc., you should be aware that some recipients might mistakenly believe you are communicating on behalf of the Library. Please take steps to make clear within any messages, etc. that you are speaking on your own behalf and not on behalf of the Library.

XXVI. REMOTE WORK POLICY

Employees are permitted to work from home (WFH) occasionally or regularly, depending on several factors and the arrangements they've made with their manager. Working from home is a privilege that may be revoked at any time. The District may request that an employee be present in the office at any time (regardless of schedule WFH time) or deny a request to work from home based on business needs, employee performance, or viability of doing the work from home. To be eligible to WFH, an employee must have access to reliable internet and a space that is free from excessive noise or distraction.

Employees must submit their remote work requests to the Director and notify appropriate team members. Requests for recurring or extended WFH arrangements will be considered after 3 months of employment, or in the event of a public health emergency. The remote work arrangement will not be construed as a contract of employment and the District may legally modify or terminate this arrangement at any time for any reason.

Employees wishing to request additional remote workdays in any given workweek are required to speak with the Director in advance for approval. If approved, the employee must submit their request to the Director on either Request Leave/Sick Form or notify appropriate team members.

When working from home employees must:

- Work on their full, typical schedule as agreed upon with the Director
- Working from home is not to be used in place of vacation, sick, or personal leave time
- Attend all meetings in a virtual capacity
- Achieve the same level of production as in the office
- Maintain equivalent availability for colleagues and patron communication and questions, etc.

- Be available online and by phone for the duration of their designated hours, minus breaks and rest periods
- Respond promptly to communication via decided upon communication
- Take all required break and rest periods, as if they were in the office
- Communicate consistently regarding their workload and status (break, lunch, working on a project, etc.)
- Follow all District procedures and policies

If an employee has District property at the employees' remote work site, upon completion of the remote work assignment, the employees must return all District property to the Presque Isle District Library. The District will provide technical support only for computer equipment and software that it provides and accepts no responsibility for damage or repairs to any equipment that the employee owns. Support is available by phone or email and a technician will not be dispatched to the employees' home.
